

Opinions as to the Results of the Recent Tidal Wave and Cyclonic Disturbances— "What Will the Harvest Be?"

It looks as though Mr. Cleveland were more contented as a duck shooter than as a Cabinet maker. He needs a gun in both vocations.

Nobody will be surprised to learn that Chicago wants a naval academy. It would be much more astonishing that there was something that that town didn't want.

Senator Call of Florida declares that the country can trust Mr. Cleveland with respect to the extra session question. The real problem is whether Mr. Cleveland can trust Congress.

The Hon. Jerry Simpson now proposes to smash the McKinley law all by himself. It is evident that Simpson never heard of the Indian, who, after tying one end of his lariat around his waist, lassoed the locomotive of a flying express train with the other end.

It is said that the public debt is swelled about $40,000,000 worth. This will furnish opportunity to the talent in Congress to distinguish itself. The job of reducing that swelling is waiting for somebody. Please notice the number who do not apply for it.

The total number of votes cast November 8th in the United States was near 14,500,000. The Cleveland vote is about 6,750,000. Votes for candidates other than Cleveland, 7,750,000. Majority against Cleveland, 1,000,000. Of course these are round numbers, but the official figures will not vary materially from the close estimates given.

The Vicksburg Herald declares that "the principle of pensions is pernicious." We have always insisted that it was to the principle of pensions rather than merely to the payment of them that the Democracy objected. To the idea that a Nation should protect its protectors that party is opposed by breeding and tradition.

According to the Treasurer's annual report there were in the United States on June 30th last $1,753,953,745, an increase of $70,000,000 during the fiscal year. This gradual addition to our currency from month to month and year to year just about keeps pace with the increasing demands of business. A more rapid expansion would be sanctioned by neither justice nor wisdom.

THERE is talk of erecting a creamery at Butler.

ANDREW ATKINSON a brakeman on the Louisville Southern was run over and killed at Harrodsburg.

A BRIGHT little boy named Ford filled his little brother's head full of shot while playing with a gun that wasn't loaded.

THE Clark County National Bank cashed checks to the amount of $12,000 for one firm, which it had paid for turkeys.

RICHARD ALSOP was found dead in bed at Harrodsburg, and there are suspicions of foul play. He was 26 and married only two months.

MACK LAWTON, who was married twice to beautiful Miss Eudora Cox at Lexington, has fallen out again and she has gone home to her parents.

SHERIFF O'MEARA of Kenton county has turned over to the State Auditor $100,000, the amount of his collections. The delinquency is $10,000.

PROFESSOR M. H. SMITH, formerly of this city, went in on the recent "tidal wave." He was elected Probate Judge of his district at Suffield, Conn.

ALBERT MCLEAN, colored, was shot and killed by Henry Thompson, a railroad boss, at Owensboro. McLean and others were drunk and engaged in a row.

WILLIAM DAVIS is announced in this issue as a candidate for the office of City Weigher. The position could not be placed in so more competent or trustworthy hands.

"JACK the Kisser" is in Louisville. He is not doing a very flourishing business, for he accosted a young lady who revealed a revolver at his worthless head and made him beg for mercy.

Benjamin Harrison McKee's Reply.

Baby Ruth, I write in reply to your letter, For which I shall hold myself always your debtor. Its bright words make easier the going away from this White House, where no one ever comes to stay.

You dear little thing; I'll do everything you say; And be off with my traps, leaving nought in your way. For indeed and indeed I'm eager you should see

What "a fine little man" is ex-"Baby McKee." I was Daby McKee a good four years ago, Before you—why, where were you then, I'd like to know!

When grandfather put your "big papa" to such rout, Walked into the White House and your "big papa walked out?"

But now I am Benjamin Harrison McKee, And the very proudest of boys just that to be. Such a grandfather and great-great-grandfather, too, But a few can claim; Baby Ruth, can even you?

I am glad you have lots of playthings of your own To bring with you when you come to this jolly new home.

But you needn't be sorry for me, for I have some; A soldier's outfit—a sword, gun and flag and drum. And should my country need me in some future day,

I will to the front, not send substitute for pay! But your love I accept, and if not rude to you, Will add I much prefer the old hat to the new.

For it means ancestors worthy—blood, brains, honors, all That men have set their hearts on since father Adam's fall. Grandfather wears it now, I hope to by and by.

At least I am resolved my very best to try. Be sure I'll take it with me and never repine That the new one is yours and the big old one is mine;

Or that I'm of the "outs," not the "ins," as are you So with thanks, Baby Ruth, and best wishes, adieu.
